

Comparison of relative abundance estimates from the three estimators

Results are aggregated over the 11 species and 23 years with 95% confidence intervals computed based on an assumption that the 11 species are a random sample from population of all species caught by IPHC survey

